➤ For Diabetes Health Professionals

The Utah Department of Health Diabetes Prevention and Control Program is pleased to introduce the 2005 Resource Manual for Utah Diabetes Healthcare Professionals. We want to thank those who helped to update the manual and make it more user friendly.

The purpose of this manual is to provide health care professionals with a comprehensive summary of diabetes resources in Utah, including screening services; primary health care resources; health insurance and medical assistance programs; diabetes and nutrition education programs; community services; industry and medical supply services; and professional education resources. We hope this manual is an easy reference tool for you to use in working with your patients with diabetes.

The information included in the manual is accurate as of November 2004. We have attempted to make the manual as easy to use as possible, presenting information by county when appropriate.

The Utah Comprehensive Health Insurance Pool (HIP)

Created by the Legislature in 1990, HIP is funded through premiums paid by or on behalf of enrolled individuals, plus funds appropriated by the legislature. Regence BlueCross and BlueShield of Utah is the administrator of the plan. A six month pre-existing condition waiting period applies for those who have experienced a break in their insurance coverage of more than 62 days. There may be a waiting list. Coverage is not guaranteed; each applicant must meet the eligibility requirements.

Eligibility/Rules:

- Person who has resided in Utah for at least one year, or who is a dependent child of a resident who is 25 years of age or less.

One must meet the required health conditions and underwriting criteria. When an individual makes application to the HIP program, a determination of insurability is made using a national underwriting standard. If the individual is found to be insurable under that standard, he or she will not be accepted for coverage by HIP, unless the person is unable to obtain comparable insurance at the same cost. Instead, the individual will be sent a letter which can then be used to gain insurance coverage from the applicant's employer or other insurance plan sponsors, including individual plans. An appeal of a private insurer's denial of coverage can also be filed with HIP within 30 days. HIP will apply the same national underwriting standards and issue the same letter if the individual is found insurable.

The following are ineligible:

- Individuals on Medicare or Medicaid, (except in unusual circumstances)
- Prior HIP enrollees (in the past 12 months) unless they can demonstrate that other coverage was involuntarily terminated
- Enrollees who have exhausted lifetime benefits under HIP.
- Inmates of public institutions
- Persons eligible for other public medical care programs
- Persons eligible for group insurance through an employer plan or any other plan providing substantially equivalent coverage

Costs:

Fees are based on age and annual deductibles of $500, $1,000 or $2,500

In non-metropolitan communities, beneficiaries are enrolled in a state operated program.

To Apply: Call your local Medicaid Eligibility Offices at the County/District Health Department or Department of Workforce Services or (801) 538-6155, (800) 662-9651 or <http://www.health.utah.gov/medicaid>

Medicare Part B Coverage for Diabetes Care

Routine follow-up visits to health care providers, labs, eye exams, and foot exams.

- While Medicare does not cover routine services such as physical exams, it does cover, regular follow-up visits for diabetes. Each visit must have an ICD-9 code for diabetes; visits not necessary for monitoring the patient's diabetes may not be covered.
- Lab services such as HbA1c, cholesterol, and microalbuminuria tests are covered when “medically necessary”. Follow professional guideline intervals on frequency.
- Podiatric foot exams and services are covered. Routine exams by physicians treating the patient's diabetes are bundled into the office visit codes. Routine services, e.g. nail debridement, are limited to once per month, but other coded services are covered as medically necessary.
- Routine eye exams and screenings by the physician treating the patient's diabetes or by an eye care specialist are not covered, but services provided by a specialist for an ICD-9 coded eye disease are generally covered.
- Vaccinations for influenza and pneumococcal are covered.

Medications and medication delivery devices for all eligible beneficiaries with diabetes:

- Oral medications and insulin: Not covered except under some supplement plans
- Syringes and pumps: Supplies are covered

Testing strips and lancets:

- Quantities: For non-insulin users a prescription for 100 strips per three months may be written. For insulin treated beneficiaries prescriptions for 300 per three months may be written. Prescriptions may allow one refill. (See exceptions below)
- Information to include on the prescription form: Document the following on the prescription form: a) the number of strips to be dispensed, b) whether or not the patient is using insulin, a statement that the physician has seen the patient in the last six months, and c) the frequency for testing as prescribed by the physician. A prescription that states “as needed” will not be honored. Prescriptions will be valid for six months only. A new prescription must contain the same information as the original. Only the physician, patient or patient's care giver may authorize a refill of the prescription.
- Exceptions: If the patient requires more than 100 strips in a three month period, (300 for insulin treated) the prescription must specify the testing frequency recommended by the physician (It is strongly suggested that a clinical reason for more frequent testing be stated on the form). Patient also will be required to submit a one-month log every six months to document actual testing frequency if more than the minimum is prescribed.

Health Insurance

Medicare Part B Coverage

- Lancets: Prescriptions for lancets should be handled in a manner similar to that used for test strips.

Blood Glucose Monitors: Medicare will cover the purchase of blood glucose monitors for patients regardless of insulin usage when ordered in writing. Monitors must be of a type designed for home use. Monitors designed for clinical usage are not covered.

- Blood glucose meters with features such as voice synthesizers and specially designed supplies and materials to enable a visually-impaired patient to use the monitor without assistance will also be covered if the following conditions are met: a) the beneficiary and the monitor meet the general criteria for coverage of a standard home blood glucose monitor, and b) the physician treating the patient's diabetes documents in the medical record that the patient has a visual impairment severe enough to require the use of the special monitor.

Reimbursement for equipment and supplies:

In most cases, the patient will be required to pay for the strips, lancets and monitor and then submit the receipts for reimbursement. Some pharmacies and mail order drug companies will bill Medicare.

Diabetes self-management training (SMT)

- Requires a physician's referral, using a prescription form or physician's order. Physicians managing the beneficiary's diabetes must certify that SMT services are needed under a comprehensive plan of care related to the beneficiary's condition. The Utah fiscal intermediary interprets that to mean a patient who is: a) newly diagnosed, or b) has "long term diabetes and is currently experiencing management problems." Only SMT provided by a program recognized program of the American Diabetes Association or other national accreditation body will be reimbursed. (Go to <http://www.diabetes.org/education/eduprograms.asp>)
- Medicare states that it should not be necessary to exceed ten hours for initial diabetes SMT.
- SMT should be provided in group settings, but exceptions can be made if medically necessary, for example, language or physical challenges such as impaired vision or hearing.
- Education primarily for weight loss or skills of daily living is not generally covered.

Primary Care Network (PCN)

PCN is health coverage for adults who qualify. PCN is offered by the Utah Department of Health.

Check for open enrollment.

<http://www.health.utah.gov/pcn>.

Hypnosis Cessation Clinics

This is a group hypnosis program, conducted in one two-hour session. Individuals go through hypnosis three times during the session. A cassette tape, with the voice of the hypnotherapist, is given to each participant so they may follow up on the self-hypnosis technique and maintenance on the first week following the clinic. Clinics are held once a month at the ALAU office from 6-8 pm, and are always held on a Thursday.

Cost: $60 .

Freedom From Smoking Clinics

This group process program carries the person through eight sessions in eight weeks. It has the highest success rate of smokers who quit. The clinics are conducted by a trained facilitator. It is conducted at the ALAU office on Tuesday evenings in groups of eight to ten people. Call 484-4456 for registration. Cost: $75.

Freedom From Smoking - Self Help Program

Purpose:

The Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF) is a not-for-profit, voluntary health agency with chapters and affiliates throughout the world. JDRF's main objective is to support and fund research to find a cure for diabetes and its complications. JDRF gives more money directly to diabetes research than any other private health agency in the world.

The organization awards research grants for laboratory and clinical investigations and sponsors a variety of career development and research training programs for new and established investigators.

JDRF also sponsors international workshops and conferences for biomedical researchers. Individual chapters offer support groups and other activities for families affected by diabetes.

General Chapter Description:

Each JDRF chapter serves as a central resource for information about the local diabetes community and about the progress JDRF and others have made in the search for a cure. Under the direction of volunteer Boards of Directors and the combined efforts of professional staff and many volunteers, the chapters provide education to the public, outreach programs to those living with diabetes, and regional support for government advocacy programs on behalf of diabetes research. JDRF chapters also coordinate and implement the Foundation's fund raising programs that support research throughout the world.
